WHO is CancerTrust?

We realize that there is a growing need for reliable, timely, personalized information in the field of cancer treatment. That's why a leading oncologist and his cancer patient created CancerTrust. Our team comprises some of America's leading cancer physicians, nurses, and other health care professionals, each with a passion to enhance personalized care.

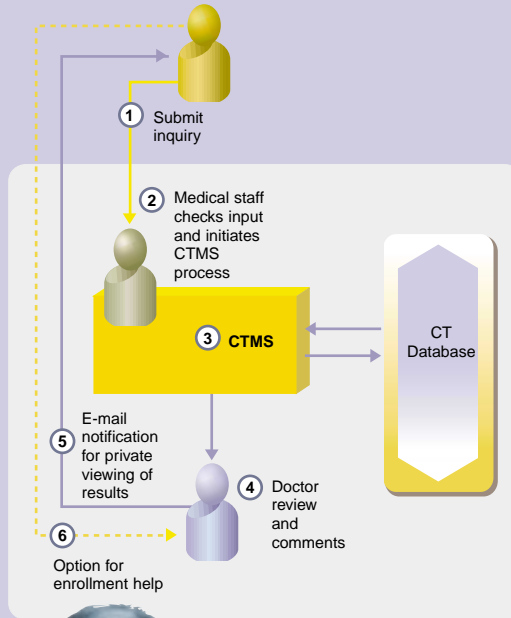

- ❖ Based on each individual profile, our physician team delivers focused information for adults with cancer, their families, and their physicians.
- ❖ We utilize a team of oncologists and experienced health care personnel with all of the qualities to supplement your role as the primary oncologist. We are up-to-date, comprehensive, individualized, and interactive, with excellent support staff (medical records, social services, nutritionists and pharmacists).
- ❖ We're forming strategic partnerships with nationally recognized advocacy groups with leading pharmaceutical companies to improve clinical trial participation, and with insurance companies for reliable second opinions.
